

THANK YOU again for the great presentation skills class and personal feedback. I gave the Broadcast 101 presentation for the first time today since we met and it went so much better than it's ever gone before. I was more comfortable than I've ever been and the presentation has become an interactive conversation.

McCormack Media offered smart, sound advice to make us better leaders & presenters with stronger connections to our clients. Really helpful information that I know our group will put into practice. Their presentation is among the best I have seen at the Nielsen Sales Summit.
